WYSAC surveyed Wyoming women and found a broad range of COVID-19 impacts.

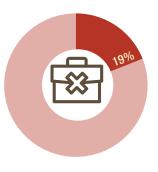

Employment

They or someone in their household had their pay cut

They or someone in their household had work hours reduced

They or someone in their household lost a job

Food & Medical

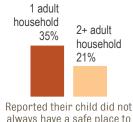

17%

Worried their food would run out before getting money to buy more, more often than before COVID-19 33%

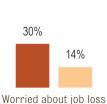

They or someone in their household avoided seeking medical care when they normally would have

Of women who had children in their household,

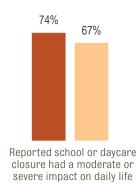

Reported their child did not always have a safe place to go while they were at work or school

because of childcare

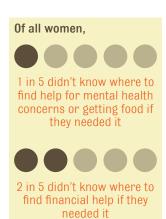

Demographics

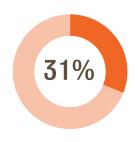

The Impacts of COVID-19 on Wyoming Women

Knowledge of Resources

of women with mental health concerns did not know where to get help for mental health of women with food insecurities did not know where to get help getting food of women with financial concerns did not know where to go for financial assistance

Financial

Since COVID-19, Wyoming women reported "slightly" or "significantly" more difficulty paying for

Since COVID-19, Wyoming women

About the Survey

This survey was conducted between June 16th and June 22nd, 2020 among a randomly selected sample of Wyoming residents who are members of WYSAC's WyoSpeaks panel.

For more information about this survey, go to wysac.uwyo.edu/covidwomen. For more information about the WyoSpeaks panel, please email wysac.src@uwyo.edu

The Wyoming Community Foundation is the Wyoming KIDS COUNT partner of the Annie E. Casey Foundation. This research was funded by the Annie E. Casey Foundation and produced by the Wyoming Survey & Analysis Center at the University of Wyoming. We thank the Casey Foundation for their support but acknowledge the findings and conclusions presented in this report are those of the authors alone and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Casey Foundation.

